Warrior Care Month is:

A pledge to our service members and their families. The Department of Defense will provide the highest quality of care to all wounded, ill and injured service members and their families for as long as necessary, regardless of location.

A commitment to quality care. Consistent and quality care is provided by the Department of Defense to service members throughout the continuum of care (recovery, rehabilitation and reintegration) in conjunction with other government entities. Each service has also instituted programs to provide personalized medical and non-medical assistance to wounded, ill and injured service members and their families.

Simplifying access and establishing channels for reporting problems.

www.WarriorCare.mil is the gateway to the Defense Department's Warrior Care resources through which visitors can easily identify and access individual programs and resources to meet their needs. Service members and their families who encounter difficulties during their recovery process can also get the assistance they need immediately, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, from the Wounded Warrior Resource Center. Call 1-800-342-9647 or email wwrc@militaryonesource.com, day or night.
